WE GUARANTEE That all seeds sold by us shall prove to be a represented, to the extent that should they not so, we will replace them, or send other seeds to the same value. But we cannot guarantee the crop any further than the above offer, as there are so many causes which operate unfavourably in the germination of seeds in a tropical climate, over which we have no control. Among the causes of failure may be mentioned unfavourable weatherwhich is one of the most important. The soil may be in proper condition when the seed planted, but the weather which follows may be too wet, which will cause the seed to rot; or i may-be too hot and dry, which destroys the germ before it shows itself. The soil may also be unfavourable for the variety of seed p'auted. And lastly, the seeds may be and are freq ently destroyed by vermin of various kinds. Such occurnces are beyond the power of man to prevent and for which we cannot be responsible. Mongkong, 2nd September, 1989.

Girls chew at all time and in all places, but most of all in the theatre which is one very good reason for hoping the the custom will never find favour on this side If there is one thing more maddening than ar other, it is to occupy a seat near a person wh sucks sweets during the performance—a practic very popular in dress circles. And if the evaner cent jujube is torture, what is to be said of the amerauthine rubber f

The official report of the takings in the Pari sian theatres ending on the 28th of February this year has just appeared. It shows a stead increase on the preceding years, although it has been feared that the coming Exhibition would have a contrary effect. The dramatic author in France are especially well treated, as they are secured in the receipt of 12 per cent. of the gross actual takings. The municipality, having receive I per cent. as a poor-tax on each pe formance, has the control of the books ker officially, and the Society of Anthors draws t part which comes to the authors and pays it them on the 15th of each month. Its jurisdi tion extends all over France and for all time.

A trial involving circumstances of an excetionally remantic character will come before the Tribunal of Ragues shortly. About twent years ago a peasant of the neighbourhood Ragues, being no longer able to support l wife, emigrated to the United States, leaving his better half in charge of the village pries From the first luck smiled-on him, and he we able to send the priest fifty floring a month fo his wife: As his position improved he incr ase the amount of his monthly remittances, but th rescally rev rendo only banded five floring month to the woman. This went on for fiftee years, when this worthy clerical gentlems. forged w certificate of the husband's death, an placed it is the hands of his wife, whose deat he likewise certified in a forged document an sentit to the busband to America Shortly aftwards he piously betook himself to orfu, whe he hoped to spend the remainder of his days peace, rejoicing in the remembrance of his got works. Fate had decid d otherwise. The m fortunate woman, his victim, was forced to g her living by begging from the passengers Lloyd steamers that touched at Ragues, and he husband sought consolation in remarriage wi a rich American lady, by whom he had tw children. After twenty years' absence he received to make a tour in Europe with his famil Ite risited Paris. Vienna, Triests, and finally Regues. On landing at that herbour a beggar Woman accreted him and saked for alms. The recognized each other simultaneously. T beggar-woman was his wife, whom he believe to have been dead several years. The priest he been arrested, and will be tried in September when, in all probability, the second marriage - Steam Launch-

We observe that Dr. Murray, the lexicographer has been writing to Notes and Queries about what he calls "that good, useful, well-formed and ancient word reliable." That there is abundant and sound precedent for the formaevents, since the publication of Dr. FitzEdward

A good old minister in Scotland is no stickler. few fowls (perhaps a source in all), and faw fish for etiquette, and likes his visits to the members (these were hooked and not netted), one pig of his flock to be as informal and as homely as possible; but he has a great regard for truth, and ing simply skin and bone, with two calves sent is invariably down on those whom he detects in any deviation therefrom. Recently calling unexpectedly on a widow who lives in a cottage on the ontakirts of the village, be surprised her in Hardly any change has taken place in the the midst of washing a lot of clothes. She hurgrowth of this port since 1896. A new Chinese | riedly hid behind a clothes horse, and told her knocked at the door. "Well Jamie," he said "and where's your mother ?"-" My mother's no the next time she goes down to the village she might take her feet with her!"

Against poking one's nose into other people's business the warnings are many and emphatic. Anna Helfter, a domestic servant in Hamburg has just learned a lesson on this subject which she will remember as long as she lived! Anna has a superabundant share of the curiosity of hai; the first steamer will, it is said, commence her erring sex, and the other day, while her rel, she crept close to the open door and greedily dranked the disclosures which resulted from the mutual recriminations of husband and wife. Suddenly the husband observed that the door was ajar, and he expended some considerable portion of his anger in banging it to. A. pieroing shrick followed, and, when the door was opened. Anna's nose was found crushed in the crack of the framework. She is a robust girl of eighteen and has the prospect of a long life before her; but the surgeons fear that she will have to travel through it without a nose.

The ethics of advertising are still an inexact science, and opinion has not decided who may and who may not advertise themselves. The question has of late profoundly stirred the architectural profession. The more dignified of its members are greatly disgusted that in a new street, such as Shaftesbury-avenue, every other building should be placarded with a board bearing, not only the name of the builder, which is proper enough, but also that of the architect. who often further offends by adding the aristocratic letters F.R.I.B.A. to his name. They say it is just the same as if. when straw has been laid in front of a house, a doctor were to hang a board on the door-knocker saying, "Case attended by T. Pills, M.D., of Cavendish-square, It is just as well that physicians do not cour country appears to be fairly well cultivated, rice publicity in this way, preferring the old ap proved method of being summoned out of church before the sermon and away from dinner-parties when it is time to join the ladies.
